Welcome Aboard!

Welcome to the 50th anniversary edition of our nautical gifts and furnishings trade catalogue. Nauticalia began in 1974 when Lynn Lewis, an ex-BBC television reporter, and his wife Val, also a journalist, converted a rubbish barge into a floating marine antiques shop on the Thames at Shepperton.

It soon became apparent that there were not enough antiques to satisfy demand, especially for the large items of nautical décor that so enthralled their customers. An advert in the local paper, for a 19th century diver's helmet, brought six buyers the next day - but there was only one for sale!

To solve the problem, Lynn commissioned a batch of ten detailed replicas from a specialist metal works, and thus began Nauticalia's famous range of reproduction boating and shipping memorabilia. Ship's telegraphs, binnacles, bells, bosun's whistles, brass information signs and anchor lamps soon followed the same course, and necessitated a move to larger premises ashore.

Now, 50 years later, Nauticalia are world leaders in supplying nautical-themed furnishings, coastal souvenirs, traditional nautical clothing, and practical boating accessories. Along the way, we have earned the Queen's Award for Export Achievement (1998), and broadened our product offering through the acquisition of the Hanah UK and SDL Imports businesses.

With Lynn and Val's son-in-law Chris at the helm, we're still family-owned and still based overlooking the Thames at Shepperton, and we continue to travel the world searching for interesting and original products that we think your customers will love. This year, we are proud to launch another 300 product lines, many of which we have developed ourselves, so you won't see them available elsewhere. If you run a chandlery, gift shop, museum, garden centre, or mail order catalogue, you can fill your store with more than 2,500 lines to choose from.

We are pleased to report that much of the pricing and supply volatility of the couple of years appears to have eased, and we have been able to hold the vast majority of prices at 2023 levels for 2024. In our anniversary year, we will continue to do all we can to help you trade successfully with unique products, low minimum order quantities, generous price breaks for larger volumes, quick delivery, and easy online ordering.

Tarnish-free Marine Instruments

Fastnet Instruments

The Fastnet range of porthole instruments are mounted onto mahogany-coloured wooden boards with brass corners. They feature white faces with black hands and roman numerals, and 12cm cases which have been treated with a special tarnish free coating (see below) so that they do not require polishing. Quartz clock movements use 1x AA battery (not supplied). Barometers display pressure in millibars and inches. The boards offer provision to hang in either vertical or horizontal format but would require careful repositioning of instruments to do so.

Tarnish-free Marine Instruments

Our ranges of super durable, tarnish-free instruments have been finished with a protective coating using advanced surface treatment technology. This coating, far superior to lacquers and varnishes, can withstand more than 720 hours (the longest test period for this process) under NSS (Neutral Sea Salt) laboratory testing. NSS testing is a certificated and standardised test method used to check corrosion resistance of coatings on metals such as brass, zinc and steel. It is an accelerated corrosion test that produces a corrosive attack on the product coating from which the results can predict its suitability for use as a protective finish. These instruments will resist tarnishing even when exposed to the harsh marine environment for extended periods.

QuickFix System

This unique QuickFix system allows the instrument to be locked hard to a bulkhead or wall but removed, in seconds, by hand. The instrument is supplied with a base plate which is screwed to the wall or bulkhead (instructions and drill hole template included). The instrument then simply slots over the base plate and with a gentle twist, is locked on. A reverse twist removes it again. This makes changing batteries easy, removal for storage easy, and avoids the tricky job of not scratching your polished case when screwing the instrument to the wall! QuickFix can also act to seal the instrument mechanism making it waterproof. In underwater tests, clocks fitted with the QuickFix waterproof system worked continuously at a depth of 300mm for more than 3 months. Note: barometers with the QuickFix system do not have the full waterproof system as these instruments need exposure to air pressure in order to operate.

Tide Clocks

Our tide clocks provide an “at-a-glance” indication of tidal state by means of the extra blue hand – showing high, low and half tides – which follows the lunar cycle (taking approximately half-an-hour longer to go “round the clock” than the hour hand. A single quartz movement powers all the hands. The faces have Arabic numerals.

IMPORTANT: Because the lunar cycle varies in length day by day, but is constant over a period of 28 days, there will be times when the tide indicator varies by a few minutes ahead or behind the actual tides. This is insignificant for most needs but may need consideration in areas with very strong or double tides, short slack periods etc. Reference to tables is essential for accurate navigation.

The Brass Instruments for which Nauticalia is Renowned

Our porthole instruments have hefty solid cast brass casings, hinged scuttle clamps, bevelled glass fronts and our trademark brass hands and black subsidiary indicators on light cream faces. The movements are good quality – battery-operated quartz for the clocks and silvered aneroid for the barometers. They are polished to the highest standards, then to protect this high lustre finish, they are ultrasonically cleaned to remove any impurities, spray lacquered then stove baked to harden the lacquer and give maximum protection. They offer excellent quality at medium-range prices. Clocks have bold Roman numerals. Barometers show millibars and inches of mercury. Clocks use 1x AA battery.

Schatz Royal Range Marine Instruments

Schatz, founded in 1881, are the world's leading manufacturer of classic ships' clocks, barometers and associated instruments, and have supplied both commercial and naval fleets for many years. Cases are a combination of machined solid brass castings, pressings and spinnings, heavily stove-lacquered for a lasting finish. The white faces, with black hands and Roman numerals, are viewed through a substantial glass opening port with a brass cleat fixing. This allows access to the movements for battery changeover or adjustment without removal from the bulkhead.

About the "Ships' Bells" Watchkeeping System

Timekeeping has always been essential on board ships, both for navigation and to ensure that the crew are adequately rested. Before the invention of reliable clocks, it was kept by striking a bell in conjunction with the cycles of a half-hour sand glass. The day was divided into four hour watches, each further subdivided into eight half hour periods. At the passing of each half hour the bell was struck the corresponding number of times: once after the first, twice after the second, and so on. At the sounding of "eight bells" the watch was completed, the crew changed over and the process would start again. The Schatz Ocean ranges have movements that can chime this pattern.

Neptune Instruments

Our Neptune range instruments have chunky cast brass casings, 12cm in diameter and either lacquered or chrome plated, with bevelled glass fronts. Clocks are quartz movement, requiring 1x AA battery. Barometers have aneroid movements and show pressure in inches and millibars.

Desktop Clocks & Pocket Watches

Franklin Watch Clock

Displayed in the National Maritime Museum, Greenwich, are the remains of a silver-cased pocket watch - a relic of Sir John Franklin's last expedition (1845-48). It was found in an abandoned boat at Erebus Bay, King William Island, in May 1859, and it is from this that the Franklin desk clock takes its inspiration. An oversized pocket watch, it has a nickel-plated cast aluminium case and a crisp white face with black numerals. Unlike the original, it has a quartz movement so doesn't need winding. Takes 1x AA battery. Stands 24cm tall.

Also unlike the originals, it has a reliable quartz movement, so you can't use it as an excuse to be late! Case diameter 5cm. Supplied with chain in a velvet bag. LR44 battery supplied.

Brass & Chrome Bells

Nauticalia Ships' Bells

Nauticalia has been world renowned for its ships' bells for more than 40 years, supplying a broad range of customers from shipping companies and world navies, sports clubs, pubs, and restaurants, through to pleasure boaters and home owners. Each is manufactured in the finest tradition - sand-cast solid brass turned and polished to an immaculate sheen. We choose not to lacquer our bells as we find even the best lacquers quickly break down in a marine environment, causing them to discolour. We prefer them to age naturally, or you can polish them easily without having any lacquer to remove first.

Bosun's Calls - as supplied to the World's Navies

In the days of sail, orders aboard ship were given on the Call, whose high-pitched whistle could be heard above the strongest wind. It is seldom used to transmit orders today, but tradition is kept alive by many of the world's navies, who use Calls on ceremonial occasions.

Bosun's Call Boxed Set

This Presentation Call is in a silky-lined, gold coloured box with a matching chain. A leaflet describes the Call's history and piping instructions.

Nelson's Navy Bosun's Call

This less-expensive version of our standard Navy issue Bosun's Call cannot be tuned or piped clearly, but looks authentic and whistles well. In brass and copper, with 110cm chain. Cannot be engraved.

Brass Signal Horns

Horns have been used in shipping and other forms of transport for centuries to attract attention and give warning, particularly in fog. Our traditional mouth horns are solid brass with nickel-plated mouth pieces and strong brass 'reeds' for longevity. Our 'taxi' horns have rubber bulbs and deliver a hefty, and somewhat amusing, 'honk honk', evoking images of classic early cars negotiating crowded city streets and bustling harbours being criss-crossed by a myriad of small craft.

Astrolabe - the little-known GPS of Ancient Times

You may not have heard of an astrolabe, but it remains the most used multipurpose astronomical instrument in history. Earliest examples date from around 200BC, but they rose to prominence in the Middle East and Europe in the Middle Ages. Essentially, it's an elaborate inclinometer-cum-slide rule, used to measure the altitude above the horizon of a celestial body. It can be used to identify stars or planets, to determine local latitude, to survey, and even determine your horoscope. The arrival, in the 17th-18th centuries, of accurate sextants and reliable portable chronometers rendered the astrolabe obsolete for navigation at sea, but it remains a fascinating and little-understood instrument. Our replica, in polished brass, sits in a wooden plinth and stands 18cm tall.

Weather Forecasters

The Victorians were fascinated by the art of weather forecasting and, long before the days of television or radio broadcasts, had a number of intriguing devices with which to make their own predictions. These both operate on the same basic principle, using barometric pressure and trend, plus wind direction (the three most important influences on weather conditions), to give a simple but remarkably accurate forecast for the UK (only). The brass dials are acid-etched and picked out in black.

Our simplified, decorative brass versions make handsome ornaments for the desk or garden. Made from solid machined brass with an antique finish.

Replica Navigation Instruments

Campbell Vernier Sextant

Our replica Sextant is dedicated to Royal Navy Captain John Campbell, who developed the instrument from its predecessor, the Octant, in 1757. Crucially his invention was close in time to that of accurate, portable chronometers, and it was the combination of the two which finally made navigation a science rather than guesswork, saving countless lives. This importance gave rise to the air of mystique which surrounds the instrument and its use, even in today's age of electronic wizardry.

Campbell Vernier Sextant

Detailing is impressive, with hardwood handle and protective box, six shades of varying intensity, and a powerful telescope. Fully functioning parts but not intended for navigation. Instrument 20x17cm, box 23x23x13cm.

The gnomon, which casts the shadow, can be set for latitude on a sliding scale; and the whole instrument oriented in the meridian by means of a magnetic compass in the base. The height-adjustable legs ensure that the instrument is used upright. Supplied in a box measuring 9cm square, 6cm tall.

The Original Paratrooper's 'Cricket'

As used on D-Day 80 years ago this year

The ACME No. 470 Clicker, or 'Cricket' as it became known, was conceived in the 1920s as a time-keeping device for musicians, but was adopted in 1944 by US paratroopers who needed a way of discreetly identifying friendly forces after landing behind enemy lines at night. 7,000 were supplied ahead of the D-Day invasion, very few of which now survive and are expensive antiques. Our authentic replica is made in the UK by the same company, on the actual tooling and machines used in 1944. It is superb quality and almost indistinguishable from the originals. Nowadays, they also serve as a useful dog training aid. Supplied wartime-style cardboard box with certificate of authenticity.

Star Identifiers

These simple low-cost instruments have successfully introduced thousands of people to the fascination of studying the night sky. Dials around the outside of the barrel are set to the hour and date required, showing the stars and constellations visible at the time on an accurate, computer-generated disc within. The star map can be referred to through the focusing viewfinder with one eye, whilst the other, making identification quick and easy.

Pocket Star Recogniser

Easily held in the palm of the hand, the Star Pocket provides quick and simple identification of stars by comparing them against a tiny illuminated built-in star map. An integrated compass provides alignment for two setting scales, one for the hour of day or night, the other for the month and approximate date. Pressing a button illuminates the star map to one eye while the other eye looks at the real thing in the heavens – same size, same shape and instantly recognisable. It will locate and identify 70 major constellations and 1,500 stars up to magnitude 5. Includes interchangeable star maps for Northern and Southern Hemispheres, plus four templates for adjusting latitude clipped underneath the compass. (Star Pocket is supplied ready for use in Europe, with a Northern star map preset for 40-50° latitude). 15cm long. Stores neatly in water-resistant drawstring bag. Two miniature batteries and full instructions in English included (other languages available).

Radiometers

These curious and mesmerising instruments measure the power of electromagnetic radiation. Made from a glass bulb with much of the air removed to form a partial vacuum, inside is a set of fine metal vanes, each with one dark and one light side, mounted on a spindle. The vanes rotate, as if by magic, when exposed to sunlight, artificial light, or infrared radiation (even the heat of a hand nearby can be enough) – the more intense the light, the faster the rotation.

Galileo Thermometers

Galileo Thermometers

These fascinating instruments work on the principle that liquids change density with temperature, as discovered by Italian astronomer Galileo Galilei in the 17th Century. As the liquid in the glass tube is warmed or cooled by the air around it, the coloured globes rise or sink, as their relative densities vary, indicating room temperature by the engraved brass tag on the lowest of the floating globes. Very competitively priced, they are excellent value. With long tubes and more globes than others on the market, there is more activity to watch in the mid-size and large models. They are also easier to read, as temperatures are indicated in steps of one degree instead of two. Bases are wide and heavy for stability.

Storm Bottles

Storm Bottle

Aboard HMS Beagle during the Darwin Expeditions of 1831-36, Captain Robert Fitzroy developed and refined the 18th century storm bottle. This involved much testing and observation, and resulted in him being able to make a number of weather predictions with a fair(ish) degree of accuracy. Changes in the crystals that form inside can indicate even subtle changes in the weather. However, even after almost 200 years, no one is quite sure how the storm bottle works. Is it atmospheric pressure? Temperature? Electrical disturbances? And it's this element of uncertainty, of almost magical alchemy, that makes these storm bottles so fascinating. Supplied with Fitzroy's observations - will you agree with them or find new interpretations?

Douglas DC-3/C-47 Skytrain

First flown in 1935, the Douglas DC-3, lovingly known by the British as the Dakota, revolutionised commercial aviation – accounting for 80% of the world's airline traffic by 1940. Thanks to a combination of capacity, speed, range, and economical operation the DC-3 finally made passenger travel profitable for airlines. These same qualities suited military use with the aircraft, designated C-47, providing the backbone of the Allies' transport efforts throughout the second world war – most notably delivering paratroopers and towing gliders during the D-Day landings. Around 11,000 were built, and some can still be found in service around the world today.

Supermarine Spitfire

Developed in 1938 from a Schneider trophy-winning design by the aeronautical engineer and designer R.J Mitchell, the Supermarine Spitfire became the hero of the Battle of Britain in the summer of 1940. Spitfires remained in service until 1961 – well into the jet age – by which time more than 20,000 had been produced.

Concorde

The dream of a future where people would travel the world at twice the speed of sound became a reality when Concorde made her first test flight on 2 March 1969, and 'went supersonic' on 1 October the same year. She then entered service with British Airways and Air France in 1976 and took her final commercial flight on 24 October 2003, having completed more than 50,000 flights.

Avro Vulcan

The enormous delta-winged Avro Vulcan was designed as the mainstay of the V-bomber fleet - our Cold War nuclear deterrent. However, its finest hour was arguably the audacious long-range 'Black Buck' raids of the Falklands conflict. The Vulcan served from 1956 until October 2015, when the last example (XH558) was withdrawn from service and restored to become a much-loved highlight of air shows and displays. Instantly recognisable, seeing (and hearing!) one in flight was an experience not to be forgotten. Sadly, even XH558 no longer flies - the task of keeping her in an airworthy condition proving insurmountable.

HMS Victory Models

Designed by Sir Thomas Slade, and launched in 1765, HMS Victory was the ultimate Georgian warship - armed with 102 guns plus two carronades in the fo'c'sle, she displaced approximately 3,500 tons and carried a crew of about 850. She remains the oldest commissioned warship in the world, and is still manned by the Royal Navy. Her most famous action was against Napoleon and the combined French and Spanish fleets at the Battle of Trafalgar in 1805, under the command of Admiral Lord Nelson. The battle was won by the English, but Lord Nelson was tragically killed by a sniper's bullet. It was decided that HMS Victory should be preserved as a lasting reminder of the Royal Navy's supremacy in the days of sail. Today, HMS Victory attracts over 350,000 visitors each year to her Portsmouth Historic Dockyard home.

Mayflower Models - 400 Years on From Her Historical Voyage

In the autumn of 1620, a group of English and Dutch puritans, believing that the Church had strayed too far from Christ's teachings, set out to establish a colony in the New World where they could practice their religion free from persecution. With 102 pilgrims and around 30 crew on board, Mayflower departed Plymouth for what is now New England on a voyage that would last two months in treacherous conditions. This journey has become an iconic chapter in American history, and our models pay tribute to the ship which remains a popular historic symbol today. They are budget-priced and offer an all-wood construction with canvas sails.

SS Great Britain

Designed by Victorian engineering genius Isambard Kingdom Brunel, and launched in July 1843, SS Great Britain was by far the largest and most advanced passenger ship of her day, offering a sail and steam-powered transatlantic crossing in only 14 days. In 1970, she was returned to the Bristol dry dock where she was built 127 years earlier, and remains there today as a museum ship welcoming 150,000-200,000 visitors annually.

Cutty Sark Models

Cutty Sark is the world's last intact clipper ship, now preserved in a spectacular dry dock at Greenwich, London. 2019 saw her celebrate her 150th anniversary since her launch in 1869. Long, lean, and beautiful, she was built for the tea trade but made redundant by the completion of the Suez Canal, which made steam ships more economic. Instead she earned her living, and incredible reputation for speed, in the long distance wool trade from Australia. Handmade in the traditional manner, these models feature wooden hulls, cotton sails and rigging.

Cobb Premier AIR

The Cobb Premier AIR offers a host of improvements and upgrades aimed at making cooking easier and your food taste even better. Just like the original Cobb, it's incredibly fuel efficient, versatile, and remains cool to the touch on the outside, so you can safely use it on board, in the garden, or on a picnic. On top of that, improved airflow makes it easier to control cooking temperature, thicker gauge stainless steel enhances durability so it will last longer, removable ash pan makes it easier to clean, and it's all backwards-compatible to allow continued use of Cobb accessories and fuel.

Cobb Premier AIR

Comes with a carrying/storage bag. Measures 13" tall, 12" diameter. Also available is the Cobb frying pan & wok set, which is specially designed for use with the Cobb, tough stainless steel construction. Cobblestones fuel available for Cobb.

3034 Cobb Premier AIR cooker & bag.

Cobb Features:

- Stays Cool-to-the-touch on the outside. So it can be used on a wooden table, fibreglass deck, or your lawn without causing damage.
- Doesn't smoke - food is isolated from the charcoal, so fat does not drip onto it and flare.
- Can be used as a Charcoal oven - delicious pizza cooked in just 15 minutes!
- Only needs six briquettes to Cook for up to 3½ hours or one Cobblestone (see below) burns for 2½hrs - maximum heat from minimum fuel.
- Is Easy to clean & long-lasting - all dishwasher safe.

Open When fully opened the charcoal can draw more air allowing internal temperature to rise

Closed When closed the air flow is reduced allowing the charcoal to burn slower and reduce the temperature

Cook with coals or Cobblestones

Cobb Cobblestones

Cobblestones are specially shaped to fill the fuel compartment of your Cobb barbecues, and formulated to burn hotter and longer than charcoal of the same size/weight. They are environment-friendly too, being made from coconut shells. Each stone burns for up to 2hrs (smoke-free after the first three minutes), with very little residue. They are individually plastic-wrapped, so won't absorb moisture if you keep them in a soggy locker and nor will they turn everything black.

StayPut Non-Slip Matting Products

The range of uses for non-slip matting aboard boats, caravans, and in kitchens and workshops is huge, and these items are amongst our top sellers. The fabric is made from non-slip foam which is melded onto a polyester mesh. The unique manufacturing process produces a hardwearing fabric which is not sticky or stretchy, but grips on both sides. It is durable, with an attractive open-weave structure that allows air to circulate - perfect for marine environments. It is washable, easily cut to shape, and available in a range of colours.

Multi-purpose Non-slip Matting

Available in ten colours, these rolls of StayPut non-slip matting are simple to cut and sew, so can be used in an enormous variety of applications. Made from high-density, non-marking polymer with a magnetic base and unbreakable, adjustable acrylic vials. Unlike others it can fold to fit better in a tool bag. Environmentally-friendly Muggi Range

The 'modern classic' Muggi design has been around for a few years now, enabling sailors to safely carry hot drinks single-handed (vital when you need your other hand to hold on!) and not slip when you put it down. The non-absorbent material is durable, easy to clean, and insulates to keep your drinks warmer (or cooler) for longer. Even if you're not a round-the-world yachtsman, it's equally useful in the garden, workshop, caravan, or campsite. Now the range has just become much more eco-friendly too - all new Muggis are entirely made from recycled materials, and can be recycled themselves, reducing the amount of plastic waste finding its way into the environment.

Recycled and recyclable - keeping plastic bottles out of landfill

The red and blue versions are made from post-consumer recycled plastic - those plastic bottles you put in your recycling - keeping it out of landfill and the environment.

6006 Recycled Muggi Mug Holder, red.

6007 Recycled Muggi Mug Holder, blue.

Made from Recycled Plastic Waste Recovered from the Sea

The green version uses exactly the same design to hold your mugs, glasses, or bottles securely in the four moulded slots, but it is made entirely from recycled plastic waste that has been recovered from the world's oceans - fishing nets, rope, bottles etc - much of it recovered off the Cornish coast. Without doubt, it's the 'greenest' Muggi ever!

Versatile OctoGrip™ Gloves

Antifouling, grinding, lifting, fibre glassing, carpentry, rope work, engineering... Many jobs call for hand protection, but most protective gloves on the market are cheaply made and poorly fitting - making it difficult to grip things safely or work comfortably all day. The American-designed OctoGrip™ range are in a different league – snug fitting, they're comfortable and highly dextrous, meaning you can use them for a variety of tasks. They also feature highly grippy textured palm coatings to ensure a secure grip on your work, wet or dry, yet so tactile you can even write with them on. A choice of five versions are available, to suit your customers' specific needs. All are tough and long lasting, lightweight, and breathable, and are supplied on smart Euroslot header cards.

Waterproof Glove

This waterproof glove is fully waterproof, having been double coated, so is perfect for those tough and nasty jobs in the boatyard or on board - keeping your hands warm and dry, and able to grip objects safely.

Crew Caps

When specifying our crew caps, we chose the “top-spec” options all the way. So the bulk of the cap is made from strong, 100% cotton twill material, with a sweat-resistant hem and reinforcing sewn around the inside. The brims are plastic (not cardboard), and covered in soft fawn-coloured suedette on top with navy cotton twill beneath (to reduce glare on the eyes). The size-adjusting strap has a metal buckle, and metal sleeve for tucking away the end neatly. Each is heavily embroidered with a crew position in cotton thread. The quality is excellent as is the price. One size fits all. Max 61cm, min 54cm.

Our acquisition, in 2022, of the SDL Imports brand and product range means we can now offer customers of both companies a much-increased range of products to choose from. In some cases, particularly items of nautical and seaside décor, our ranges overlapped and we have had to consider how best to feature these products in the catalogue without unnecessary duplication and confusion, especially for customers ordering their regular lines.

In this section, you will find all the products that are uniquely SDL Imports, such as wildlife, resin fantasy figures, cloisonné boxes, and hats, including some new dragons (page 114) and new Meg Hawkins Natural World products (pages 128-133). Items that closely matched our existing offering have moved to join those established ranges, and can be identified with the  icon. Look out for:

Resin Figures (Pages 196-201)

Puffins (Pages 208-209)

Galileo Thermometers (Pages 40-41)

Hats (Pages 106-107)

Keyrings & Fridge Magnets (Pages 234-240)

Glass Fishing Floats

Encased in netted rope, these hollow floating coloured glass spheres were used to support fishermen's nets and to mark lobster pots for retrieval from the seabed. Today they are commonly used as interesting decor. Each is hand-blown to create an authentic bullseye at the cut-off point - no two are identical (hence measurements are approximate).

Bunting

Unusually, the flags on these bunting sets are made, not from fabric, but thin plywood board and painted with nautical designs in bold or pastel colours. This gives them a crisp finish and suits long-term use. Suitable for indoors and outdoors, although they will fade over time if left outdoors.

Oscar Borgström

Designed for us by Swedish artist Oscar Borgström – well-known in his home country for his lighthouse-themed art – this exclusive range of souvenirs depict some of the British Isles' best-loved lighthouses. We've roughly grouped them in to East Coast and South Coast ranges, to suit many popular tourist destinations, but all are eye-catching and just as appealing to those away from coastal locations.
